BROWN'S HOTEL,

(Opposite Depot)

MACON GA.

This long and well known Hotel, with its unequalled system, still presents itself to the travelling public.

The House was opened on the 1st of January, and took at once a prominent position among the first-class Hotels of the country. It has since been closed since, but it has been steadily increasing in prosperity, till it acknowledges no successful rival in the business in the State.

Some improvements and refurnishing of the House, which is still in the hands of the Proprietor, have left nothing to be desired by those who favor it with their patronage and enjoy the comforts and luxuries of life. The Hotel is admirably situated for the convenience of the travelling public, being directly opposite the Passenger Depot, and but a few steps from the same. It has a retinue of well trained servants in every department, and the undersigned will spare no pains or expense to sustain the established reputation of the Hotel. Particular attention paid to the wants of lady guests, and no pains spared at the House, and none shall go away dissatisfied, if an earnest endeavor to please and a liberal share of the public patronage can secure it. jel6-dly

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO COTTON.

Liberal advances made on Consigments to us for sale, or Shipment to our friends in Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York or Liverpool.

Wishing to aid our Planter friends in their efforts to secure for themselves the full benefit of their Cotton Crops, we have determined to make advances on Cotton consigned to us on the following easy terms:

On Cotton, for sale at discretion, advance seventy-five (75) per cent of its market value, charging interest on the advance until the Cotton is sold at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum.

On Cotton, to be held Thirty Days, advance fifty (50) per cent. of market value, charging the regular commission for advancing, 2½ per cent., and interest on the advance at the rate of seven (7) per cent. per annum.

On Cotton, to be held Sixty Days, fifty (50) per cent of its market value, charging commission for advancing, 2½ per cent., and interest on the advance at the rate of one (1) per cent per month.

In all cases the advance will be based upon the market value of the Cotton on the day it reaches us. MERCER & ANDERSON. oct10d3m

WITH the advent of another Cotton Season, we renew to our friends and patrons the offer of our service in the storage and sale of their cotton. We have demonstrated the fact by the experience of past seasons, and particularly of the last, that Atlanta is one of the best interior cotton markets of the South. This is due chiefly to her situation; being on the direct route from the producing districts to the large seaport marts, and having the advantage of three routes to New York, via Savannah, Charleston and Norfolk, all of which are freely and satisfactorily used. The importance of Atlanta as a cotton market was, during the last season, acknowledged by the New York buyers, many of whom made extensive purchases, which with the local competition enabled us to realize the most satisfactory prices; relatively higher in most instances than could have been obtained by our consignors, by shipments to more distant points.

The members of our firm are all men of large experience in cotton, and well known in the community. Our Warehouses cannot be surpassed, being of large dimensions, completely sheltered, and fire-proof. Every money facility usual in such cases we are prepared to furnish.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM,

Adopted by the New York National Democratic Convention, July 7, 1868.

The Democratic party, in National Convention assembled, reposing its trust in the intelligence, patriotism and discriminating justice of the people; standing upon the Constitution as the foundation and limitation of the powers of the Government and the guarantee of the liberties of the citizen; and recognizing the questions of slavery and secession as having been settled for all time to come by the war or the voluntary action of the Southern States in Constitutional Convention assembled, and never to be renewed or re-agitated, do, with the return of peace, demand—

1. Immediate restoration of all the States to their rights in the Union under the Constitution and civil government of the American people.

2. Amnesty for all past political offenses, and the regulation of the elective franchise in the States by their citizens, and payment of the public debt of the United States as rapidly as practicable.

3. All money drawn from the people by taxation, except so much as is requisite for the necessities of the Government, economically administered, should be honestly applied to such payment, and where the obligations of the Government do not expressly state upon their face, or the law under which they were issued does not provide, that they shall be paid in coin they ought, in right and justice to be paid in the lawful money of the United States.

4. Equal taxation of every species of property according to its real value, including Government bonds and other public securities.

5. One currency for the Government and people, the laborer and the office-holder, the pensioner and the soldier, the producer and the bond-holder.

6. Economy in the administration of the government; the reduction of the standing army and navy; the abolishment of the Freedmen's Bureau, and all political instrumentalities designed to secure negro supremacy; simplification of the system and the discontinuance of inquisitorial boards for assessing and collecting internal revenue, so that the burden of taxation may be equalized and lessened; the credit of the government and the currency made good; the repeal of all enactments enrolling the State militia into national forces in time of peace; a tariff for revenue upon foreign imports, and such equal taxation under the internal revenue laws as will afford incidental protection to domestic manufactures, and as will, without impairing the revenue, impose the least burden upon and best promote and encourage the great industrial interests of the country.

7. Reform of abuses in the administration, the expulsion of corrupt men from offices, the abrogation of useless offices, the restoration of rightful authority to, and a independence of the Executive and Judicial departments of the Government, the subordination of the military to the civil power to the end that the usurpations of Congress and the despotism of the sword may cease.

8. Equal rights and protection for naturalized and native born citizens at home and abroad; an assertion of American nationality, which shall command the respect of foreign powers, and furnish an example and encouragement to people struggling for national integrity, constitutional rights, and the maintenance of the rights of nationalities against the absolute doctrines of immutable allegiance, and the claims of foreign powers to punish them for alleged crime committed beyond their jurisdiction.

In demanding these measures and reforms we arraign the Radical party for its disregard of right, and the unparalleled oppression and tyranny which have marked its career, after the most solemn and unanimous pledge of both houses of Congress to prosecute the war exclusively for the maintainance of the government and the preservation of the Union under the Constitution.

It has repeatedly violated that most sacred pledge under which was rallied that noble volunteer army that carried our flag to victory.

Instead of restoring the Union, it has so far as in its power dissolved it, and subjected ten States in time of peace to military despotism and negro supremacy.

It has nullified there the right of trial by jury.

It has abolished the habeas corpus, that most sacred writ of liberty.

It has overthrown the freedom of speech and the press.

It has substituted arbitrary seizures and arrests, and military trials and Star Chamber inquisitions for constitutional tribunals.

It has disregarded in time of peace the right of the people to be free from search and seizures.

It has entered the post and telegraph offices, and even the private rooms of individuals, and seized their private papers and letters, without any specification or notice of affidavit, as required by the organic law.

It has converted the American capitol into a Bastile.

It has established a system of spies and official espionage to which no constitutional monarchy of Europe would now dare resort.

It has abolished the right of appeal on important constitutional questions to the Supreme Judiciary tribunal, and threatens to curtail or destroy its original jurisdiction, which is irrevocably vested by the Constitution, while the learned Chief Justice has been subjected to the most atrocious calumnies, merely because he would not prostitute his high office to the support of the false and partisan charges preferred against the President.

Its corruption and extravagance have exceeded anything known in history, and by its frauds and monopolies it has nearly doubled the burden of debt created during the war.

It has stripped the President of his constitutional power of appointment, even of his own cabinet.

Under its repeated assaults the pillars of the Government are rocking on their base, and should it succeed in November next and inaugurate its President, we will meet as a subjected and conquered people amid the ruins of liberty and the scattered fragments of the Constitution; and we do declare and resolve that ever since the people of the United States threw off all subjection to the British Crown, the privilege and trust of suffrage have belonged to the several States, and have been granted, regulated and controlled exclusively by the political power of each State respectively. Any attempt by Congress, on any pretext whatever, to deprive any State of this right, or interfere with this exercise, is a flagrant usurpation of power which can find no warrant in the Constitution, and, if sanctioned by the people, will subvert our form of government, and can only end in a single centralized, consolidated government, in which the separate existence of the States will be entirely absorbed, and an unqualified despotism be established in place of a Federal Union of equal States.

That we regard the reconstruction acts of Congress, so-called, as usurpations, unconstitutional revolutionary and void, and that our soldiers and sailors who carried the flag of our country to victory against a most gallant and determined foe, must ever be gratefully remembered, and all the guarantees given in their favor must be faithfully carried into execution.

That the public lands should be distributed widely among the people, and should be disposed of either under the pre-emption of homestead laws, and sold in reasonable quantities, and to none but actual occupants at the minimum price as established by the Government. When grants of the public lands may be allowed, necessary for the encouragement of important public improvements, the proceeds of the sales of such lands, and not the lands themselves, should be applied.

That the President of the United States, Andrew Johnson, in exercising the power of his high office in resisting the aggressions of Congress on the constitutional rights of the States and the people, is entitled to the gratitude of the whole American people, and on behalf of the Democratic party we tender him our thanks for his patriotic efforts in that regard.

Upon this platform the Democratic party appeal to every patriot, including all the conservative element and all who desire to support the Constitution and restore the Union, forgetting all past differences of opinion, to unite with us in the present great struggle for the liberties of the people, and that to the party, to whatever party they may have heretofore belonged, we extend the right hand of fellowship, and hail all such co-operating with us as friends and brothers.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, OCTOBER 17.

ELECTION TICKETS.—The bill requiring all election tickets in this State to be uniform and on white paper, did not pass, as seems to be supposed by some. It failed in the Senate. Tickets may, therefore, be printed on any kind or color of paper parties may desire. We are prepared to furnish them in any style at $3.00 per thousand. Orders should be sent in immediately, and always accompanied by the cash.

LET US HAVE PEACE.—The messengers of the glad tidings are on their way South, from Fortress Monroe. "Three companies of heavy artillery" are coming down as peace offerings—one to Raleigh, one to Columbia, and one to Atlanta. 'Rah for Grant! O, peace! Peace, thou art so beautiful and so lovely! And yet only one regiment of infantry, one of cavalry, and a company of artillery to keep thee in Georgia!

WHY IS IT?—We have received no New York exchanges for several days. Are Radical post-masters at the North paid by the Government to withhold the details of the late elections?

THAT COMMITTEE.—The joint Committee appointed by the General Assembly to investigate the affairs of the State Road, and report at the next session, convened this morning, and a quorum was present, but an adjournment without business was moved to Monday next, at 10 o'clock. The absent members will reach the city by that time. Success to them.

BARTOW COUNTY.—A private letter from Bartow to the Rome Commercial, says that county will give Seymour and Blair 1,200 majority.

THE BUOYANCY OF THE PRESS.—We are glad to see that the genuine Democratic papers of the South are undismayed. While some droop their heads and grope about in the dark as if searching for a soft place to fall upon, or a crevice in Radicalism to creep into, those of the true faith stand firm and bid defiance to the howlings of the storm and the flash of the lightnings. Among these in our own State, stands out in bold relief, the Albany News. The editor closes an encouraging article with the following sensible advice:

"Let us dare to think right, to speak right, to act right so long as we have the liberty. Let us labor diligently for the success of that party which we think to be right, and more diligently if possible, against that party which we know to be wrong.

"Success in the November election, is by no means impossible. Would the North, even at this late day, acquaint itself with the true state of feeling at the South, we cannot but believe that there is enough virtue there to save the country from the hands of the present despoilers.

'Nil desperandum—
Never despair;'
But hurrah the louder
For Seymour and Blair."

The Funeral of Gen. Howell Cobb.

A gentleman who was present at the funeral of Gen. Cobb, at Athens, on Thursday last, informs us that it was the most imposing demonstration of the kind known to the history of Georgia. The remains reached Athens about sunrise on that day, having been received by a special committee from the steamer at Savannah, and brought through on an extra train. Major Lamar Cobb, eldest son of the deceased, was in charge of the remains on the steamer from New York. A vast concourse of the citizens of Athens escorted the remains from the depot to the Town Hall, where they remained in state until 2½ o'clock, P. M., the hour arranged for the funeral ceremonies. The procession, arranged as follows at that hour, then moved through several of the prominent streets to the chapel of the State University;

ORDER OF PROCESSION.

1. Ministers of the Gospel.
2. Order of Free Masons.
3. Hearse, attended by Pall-Bearers.
4. Family and relatives of deceased.
5. Members of the Bar.
6. Trustees and Faculty of University.
7. Literary Societies of the University.
8. Teachers and Pupils of University High School.
9. Independent Order of Odd Fellows.
10. Intendent and Wardens of Athens and other City and Town Officials.
11. Special Committees representing other communities.
12. Representatives of the Press.
13. Citizens on foot.
14. Citizens in Carriages and on Horseback.

M. STANLEY, Chief Marshal,

H. H. Carlton, E. P. Lumpkin, A. F. Pope, Edgar Thompson, Assistants.

This procession, our informant states, was about one mile in length, and though the college chapel is of a massive and commodious character, it was impossible to find room inside to accommodate the overwhelming attendance. The metallic coffin which contained all that was left to that bereaved people of the illustrious dead, was borne to the place in an elegant hearse drawn by four horses, and placed immediately in front of the rostrum. A solid silver plate contained only the name of the deceased, his birth and death. Wreathes garlands woven of laurel leaves, surmounted the coffin. The pall bearers, consisting of twelve or sixteen of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Athens, and all of them the warm personal friends of the deceased, were clad in appropriate habilliments, which had the effect of rendering the scene still more impressive. The friends of his youth, and the sharers of his early triumphs and later honors, were of that little band to perform the last sad offices of love and friendship. An improvised choir of ladies and gentlemen in the gallery chanted requiems to the dead, and a most eloquent and impressive tribute was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Warren, of Macon. He was followed by Rev. Joseph Key and Rev. Mr. Flynn

The funeral obsequies were brought to a close at the Chapel by prayer from the Rev. W. T. Brantly, of Atlanta, and a concluding hymn. Of other clergymen present and assisting, the names of Rev. R. K. Porter, Rev. Mr. Mill, and Rev. Mr. Birkhead may be mentioned.

The procession was not re-formed from the chapel, owing to the lateness of the hour. The Masons and Odd Fellows, however, moved in column to the grove near the hearse, and next to the immediate family and relatives of the deceased, after which came groups of citizens on foot and in carriages. It was night ere the last sad rites had been paid to one whose death may justly be regarded as a public calamity. From all who were present we learn that it was the most overwhelming demonstration ever witnessed in Georgia. Delegations were present from nearly all of prominent cities of the State. Our own city was represented by Rev. Wm. T. Brantley, Rev. R. K. Porter and Capt. V. P. Sisson, who were sent over by the city authorities.

☞ The Central Pacific Railroad has been finished to a point five hundred miles east of San Francisco, and it is said the grading to Salt Lake will be finished by the 15th of December next.

From the Louisville Journal.]

Stand Firm.

The later dispatches leave no room for doubt that in the States wherein State elections were held day before yesterday our State tickets were defeated. In each of those States the State election has gone against us. The result, we confess, is well adapted to dishearten Democrats everywhere; but it should not be allowed to plunge Democrats anywhere into despair. Far from it. It should rather nerve them with the sublime courage of pure and simple principle.

We must not give up the fight. We cannot. Our liberties are at stake. By everything which makes life dear to us we are bound to fight the good fight of conservatism until we lay hold of victory, whether the day of victory be near or far. We must finish our course. Our ultimate triumph is sure. The Presidential election, we do not forget, is less than three weeks off, and, without some extraordinary change in our favor, we may not triumph in that election; but, if we do not, we at least shall triumph afterwards. The passions of the war may yet blind the people to their real interests; but this blindness cannot last always. It cannot last a great deal longer. The passions of the war must ere long subside; and, when they do, the people will see clearly and act justly. And then, if not before, our triumph will come. It is inevitable. A crown of victory is laid up for us. To win and wear it we have only to be true to ourselves. Let us be true to ourselves. This is our supreme duty.

Nor will the reward of our fidelity be all deferred if a portion of it shall be. An important advantage we shall reap at once. In the elections of Tuesday, though we lost our State tickets, we gained a number of Congressmen; and, with unwavering fidelity, we shall gain a much greater number in November. Besides, the same fidelity, if indeed it does not turn back the tide of defeat in the Presidential contest and bear us on to victory, will at all events effect such an expression of conservative sentiment as the victorious party must regard with respect and some degree of wholesome awe. The vast importance of this two-fold advantage is manifest. And the advantage is manifestly within our reach. We have but to extend our arms and grasp it.

Nor is this all. The result of a State election, going before a Presidential election in the same year, is not, as experience has shown, an unerring precursor of the result of the Presidential election in the State; the latter result, on the contrary, has been known to be the opposite of the former. Pennsylvania herself, if we mistake not, supplies a case in point. At any rate the fact is incontestable. And it is easily explained. A State election, in the first place, may turn on State rather than on national considerations, being always affected more or less by the former; and, in the second place, the party that succeeds in the State election, feeling secure, is more apt to relax its energies than its adversary is,

And, you all know, security
Is mortal's chiefest enemy.

Hence the fact. Although Ohio and Pennsylvania and Indiana have gone against us in their State elections, therefore, it is not certain, if we prove true to ourselves, that they will go against us in the Presidential election. In that election one or two or all of them may nevertheless go in favor of us. We do not say that this result is certain. We do not say that it is probable. But we do say that it is possible. It is in the cards. And when our liberties are the stake we are triflers and recreants if we do not play out the game.

If, then, we are true to ourselves throughout the remainder of the canvass, we not only shall beyond all question gain the important advantages of many additional Congressmen and of a commanding protest against the principles and measures of the Republican party, but may gain the Presidency; we shall unquestionably gain a material part of what we seek, and may gain all. With these incentives to fight the good fight, who of us will sink or flee? For our own part, without one of these incentives, with no incentive but our just cause and deathless faith in it, we, in sight of the battle-field of Tuesday, should still appeal to every Democrat to stand firm, addressing him in the beautiful words of one who is now fighting against us but whose genius half redeems his errors:

A wild and many-weaponed throng
Hang on thy front, and flank, and rear.

Yet nerve thy spirit to the proof,
And blench not at thy chosen lot,
The timid good may stand aloof,
The sage may frown—yet faint thou not.

Nor heed the shaft too surely cast,
The foul and hissing bolt of scorn;
For with thy side shall dwell, at last,
The victory of endurance born.

Truth, crushed to earth, shall rise again;
The eternal years of God are her's;
But Error, wounded, writhes with pain,
And dies among its worshippers.

Yea, though thou lie upon the dust,
When they who helped the flee in fear,
Die full of hope and manly trust,
Like those who fell in battle here.

Another hand thy sword shall wield,
Another hand the standard wave,
Till from the trumpet's mouth is pealed
The blast of triumph o'er thy grave.

From the Louisville Journal.]

Never Say "Die."

We have no disposition whatever to impose upon the credulity of the people. It is always best in cases of emergency to face the music and appeal to the courage and intelligence of men. In this spirit we are perfectly free to admit that we could have been better suited by the voting day before yesterday. Although we had no reason to expect it, we could have wished that Ohio, Indiana, and Pennsylvania had rolled up crushing Democratic majorities, settling the Presidential election for Seymour and Blair at once, right now, and beyond dispute. They have not done so; but they have done much in that direction. In spite of the money and muscle which radicalism threw into the contest, the Democratic forces have held their own and more than held their own. They fought for every foot of ground, and they have made many acres of ground. Although we have not done all we tried to do; we have done that which should inspire us with pride and strength. To give back now would be a confession either of a want of courage or a want of faith. We confess to neither. Moreover, the result in the three great States, which is still undefined, is not a reverse in fact. It is simply a check to those brilliant expectations that set out by the determination to be satisfied with nothing short of overwhelming Democratic victories. Hence we say to Democrats everywhere—and we wish the notes might go into the remotest corners of this fair land—pluck up your hearts, pick your flints, try it again, and never say "die." That's our way of fighting radicalism and that's our Democracy. It is also the spirit of the old Democratic chanticleer. Be it never so dark, his clear tones ringing out lustily upon the air. Be the odds never so great, he stands with his crest up. Nick him and you rouse him. Gaff him and he flaps his wings and crows. There's no whipping such a bird as that; and there'll be no whipping us if we are true to ourselves and follow the advantages already won to their logical conclusion.

As we said in our article of yesterday, this is not a fight of time-servers against time. It is not the contention of a lot of poor devils for meat and drink. It is not a fight for loaves and fishes. It is the struggle of free men for free government. It is a conflict between the forces of liberty against the forces of despotism. It is not a new or exceptional controversy. It has been produced and reproduced in every age and country; and wherever it has come to a final issue, liberalism and not despotism has proven victors. At this moment the tendency towards liberalism is manifest all over the world. Nor less so in this country. Behold the Democraict party in 1865. Behold it now. See what it was. See what it has done. History presents no spectacle more animating and superb; and he who thinks that the end of such an organization is nigh—an organization which has held to its one, sure, guiding purpose against every trial and reverse—an organization whose onward march has been inspired by the life-giving breath of freedom and illuminated by the light of the star of the republican liberty which beamed upon the fathers in the coldest and gloomiest hours of the Revolution—an organization upon which the hopes of millions of white men absolutely depends—he, we repeat, who predicts the end of such an organization but ill comprehends the nature of the conflict of ideas in which it is engaged, and does not understand the American character at all.

The Radicals seek to blight this fruitful land by corrupt legislation, excessive taxes, and negro domination. They seek to blight it in order to possess and rob it. They have already fleeced it, they already hold it captive, and they hope next so to shape it as that they may do with it and us as they see fit. They understand the evils of poverty. They know how a poor people may lose their liberties. Hence, in order to secure an easy prey, they seek to impoverish their victim. The South is impoverished. The West will come next. Thus New England will own us body and soul, and, having abolished the Constitution as they abolished slavery, they will give us a first-class Puritan oligarchy, with laws and tariffs to suit the Sumners, Phillipses and Greeleys. This is their scheme, and millions of free white men are sworn to die in their tracks before it shall be carried out.

Our duty is plain and clear. The radicals have spent their best efforts in this election. Now is our time. We have reason to know that very little money has yet figured in the Democratic interest. The Democratic party has fought its fight squarely out on principle. This is the way still to fight it. We don't believe at all in the use of corrupt means. We have an abiding faith in the intelligence and justice of the American people. The contest is only fairly begun. The contending forces are arrayed for the first time in order of battle where the odds are not all on one side. Let the flags wave, therefore, and the drums beat louder still. Let no man falter in his track. Stand to your guns, Democrats of the North, South and West, stand to your guns. This is no time to hesitate if the prospect were as dark again as it is. It is a good rule not to go into a fight if you don't mean to fight it to the end. If you mean to give back before the first volley of line firing, it were better to have remained out altogether. Therefore, it is that we say, go forward with unabated vigor and never say "die."

ENGLAND.

Minister Johnson's Speeches in Leeds—National Union and "Few Differences" with America—The Honor of England Not "Tarnished"—The Alabama Claims and Chinese Embassy.

LONDON, September 26, 1868.—In my last letter I spoke of the position which Minister Reverdy Johnson really held in England, and compared it with the complaisant views which he seemed to take of past and passing events. While that letter was being written Minister Johnson was addressing the authorities at Leeds, in a couple of those soft-soldering speeches, the inutility of which he has not yet learned. Minister Johnson came from Lord Houghton's, where he is staying, to visit the Leeds Art Exhibition and, of course he was received by the Mayor and then by the Art Trustees, and of course there was speech making on both sides, as you will have seen by the newspaper reports.

SETTLE IT.—A few personal friends did us the favor to subscribe for THE CONSTITUTION by way of helping us to launch. They were and are good men and generally. They were more than they know what to do with, but at the time of subscribing were a "little short," and gave us only a benefit of their names. Of course we esteemed it a privilege to send them the paper; to receive their not warm personal friends, and gentlemen of character, but were together, take the risk of the issue involved. Besides, we had no use for money, and our printers and employees all being rich, worked for nothing and found themselves.

Now the order of things is reversed, our personal friends are in funds, and our patronage are not so rich as they were. We don't want the privilege any longer, and don't mind if we do recall it due. Longfellow says up—washing dirty linen in the same line—washing dirty linen and hemming its tattered ragments.

Susan B. Anthony proposes to substitute Matrimony Straight for the Gretchen Band.

"THE NEW ENGLAND TRAGEDIES."—Mr. Longfellow is out in a new volume, "The New England Tragedies." We question whether the Puritans of the present day will specially thank him for unearthing, in vase, Boston Quaker persecutions as far back as the middle of the 17th century. Salem witcheries of a later date, Puritanical persecutions as far as they were, for a time, filled to depletion the height of the soul is shaded by each passing cloud.

The Susanna of Leonora like the Bostonians.

Beecher says he used to wash dishes and towels.—Example.

He is still in the same line.—washing dirty linen and hemming its tattered garments.

Now, this is "artful," because, although the look charge of the Road in August, a statement of the number of men correctly employed in August does not give the number employed in September, when the number employed was carried.

The Standard puts the working men candidates on the back, and says that a return of half a dozen of them would certainly be deplored by other orators from three several States, and with the large Democratic vote cast under the shelter of Charles II. As these have addressed a memorial to the Premier, well known members of Parliament have addressed a memorial to the Premier, urging the Indian question as equitably explained, and extensive removal of Indians apart for the use of the settling tribes. The desire of the memorialists, if possible, to avert the sanguinary border warfare which has been so ignorantly

The Liberal Journals in Ireland seem to think that the fate of the "alien establishment" has been sealed by the report of the commission. The Cork Examiner says it has put beyond question what the revenue has for the Church really are. It has become a serious question with the Government as to the mind of that section will be brought to a lethargy.

We believe it will become alarmed in the matter, that Mr. Belmont is inclined to after a more thorough investigation of the "facts" presented by him as evidences of the wisdom of his selection as Superintendence in a smoother skin, and the tendency of its purposes through the more dubious tendency to turn out on investigation to be "confirmations strong as proofs of holy writ" of his unfitness for the position. But for the respect he and his letter are a perfect success. As an "artful dodger," his "fact is stranger than (Dickens') fiction"—"sharp and quick," but feebly expresses the facility with which he dodges a direct answer to a plain question—claims losses as gains and blunders as evidences of foresight. In the case of this fact, is it any wonder that the fortunes of the party may be elsewhere let this or ours. Were they certain to defeat the duty would be to less imperative to rescue Georgia from the tide over-sweeping other States. A decreased resistance on their part to the approaches of Jacobinism, although the general result should be against us, will secure future peace and tranquility among ourselves. It would show to the world, that whilst the verdict of the nation was against the principles of the secret degree by which they are being thrust in the hands of supposed friends.

It should at once relieve itself of this dead weight, and organize its forces under the true light, we at least, have been true to ourselves, true to justice and right, true to the Constitution, and opposed to the false and ruinous policy of the Radical party.

Mr. ROBERT CRAWFORD, of Atlanta, Ga. Mr. GEORGE BATTEY, of Atlanta. A. J. SCOTT, John Evans, Atlantic and Gulf Railroad.

FULL service and Holy Communion at St. Phillips' to-day, commencing at 10½ o'clock.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—The Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Rev. R. W. Fuller, by special request, will (D. V.) this morning deliver a discourse at 10½ o'clock in Seago's Hall on the proper relation between Temperance and Religion.

The public, and especially the young people, are kindly invited to be present.

REV. J. D. BURKHEAND, of Athens, will preach (D. V.) in the 1st Presbyterian Church, Marietta street, Monday night, the 19th instant, at ½ o'clock.

W. F. PECK & Co. have a large and choice lot of Goods to close out at reduced prices, to make room for a new stock to arrive in about Ten Days. 2t

CAN'T COME IT.—We understand that Bullock's extravagant account against this city, for room rent at the National Hotel, has been duly considered by Council and payment thereof refused. It is said that Lew Pond will urge His Excellency to call upon Gen. Grant for troops for the enforcement of his demands.

BARGAINS! Bargains! Bargains! at P. H. SNOOK & Co.'s.

FOUR of the season—Buckwheat and Cream Drips can be had at Larendon Bros. Also, many other nice things for the table.

LADIES! W. F. Peck & Co., have just received a line of Ottoman Velours and Winter Fabrics for Dresses. Entirely new. Call and see them. 2t

ARRESTED.—The parties who robbed Beerman & Katt's money drawer night before last of $7 00 in greenbacks, were yesterday arrested by Capt. Ed. Murphy, and a portion of the funds recovered. The names of the guilty trio are Clark Nash, George Taylor, and Charles Gresham—gentlemen of color.

SHAWLS and Cloaks, UNDER New York cost, at P. H. SNOOK & Co.'s.

THEATRE.—Ticket-of-Leave Man and Saratoga Young Man, will be performed to morrow night. For further information, refer to the advertisement in another column.

DRESS GOODS! DRESS GOODS!—A new invoice of Dress Goods, Cloaks, Shawls, &c., at W. F. PECK & Co., No. 9 Railroad Block, Opposite National Hotel.

RATHER FRIENDLY.—We are told that a party about to leave the city yesterday, was accompanied by a friend (?) to the cars. Just before the train started he had occasion for some small change, felt for his pocket book, and soon discovered that it was gone. The police were informed of the circumstances, a vigorous search instituted, and the missing article found in the pocket of the friend, "sharp and quick" all round.

THE FINEST assortment of Dress Goods, very cheap, at P. H. SNOOK & Co.'s.

NEW SALE AND LIVERY STABLE.—Mr. P. B. Wooten, formerly of the Tennessee Stable, has built on Pryor street, in rear of the American Hotel, an elegant stable, with mule sheds attached. He is prepared to accommodate his old friends, and as many new ones as wish to make his acquaintance. Mr. Wooten enjoys an A No. 1 reputation as a horseman and is entitled to a full share of public patronage.

W. F. PECK & Co. are offering bargains in Black and Colored Silks, Irish and French Poplins, Ottoman Cloths, &c. Call and examine for yourselves. 2t

BACK BROKE.—The self-supporting roof of the southern Express stables on Railroad street gave way yesterday. Cause—too much Tucker hay stored in the attic for the use of Governor Bullock's team. It is probable His Excellency will ask for a military commission to investigate the matter.

BEAUTIFUL 37-inch Long Cloth, for 20 cents, at P. H. SNOOK & Co.'s.

THE BAPTIST FAIR closed Thursday night. We are informed that the net amount realized is about $8,000.

Mr. Glenn, of the firm of Glenn, Wright & Carr, was the Bride (doll). The presentation address and marriage ceremony were performed by Col. R. H. Thrasher in a most appropriate style for which Mr. Glenn took in excellent part, as a good-natured bachelor should. His reply was quite humorous. The occasion was one of infinite amusement to all present.

CHINCHILLA and Polish Coverings, new and beautiful, just opened at W. F. PECK & Co.'s.

BACK AGAIN.—We are pleased to announce the return to Atlanta of Mr. Amos Fox, of the Live Drug Store man, who has been absent in the North and West for upwards of a month in the interest of his firm. He has laid in a splendid stock of goods, in the purchase of which 1,000 pieces of window glass forms but a single item. Messrs. Fox & Fox are now offering a magnificent assortment of combs and brushes of the most approved styles and in endless variety. Paints, oils and drugs they keep by and for the million. If you want to find the corner of Whitehall and Alabama streets, enquire for The Live Drug Store. Anybody can tell you where it is.

BRADLEY and Merimac Prints, all styles, for sale, for 14 cents, at P. H. SNOOK & Co.'s.

REMEMBER, P. H. SNOOK & Co. have certainly verified their promise to the public, in their late bargains. They have been crowded every day this week, and we know they must have offered superior inducements to have done such a rushing business. We cannot begin to enumerate the bargains, but would recommend the ladies to call and see themselves: a visit will satisfy the most fastidious.

ASSORTED, Maud and Excelsior Shawls, just received at W. F. Peck & Co.'s. 2t

PROCLAMATION.

(OFFICIAL.)

By the Governor.

WHEREAS, notwithstanding the Executive Proclamation of September 14, 1868, many lawless acts have occurred in violation thereof, whereby the lives and property of citizens have been destroyed, the right of free speech impaired, the performance of the duties of the offices to which citizens have been elected, denied the lives of citizens so threatened as to cause them to abandon their homes and property:

And Whereas, "The protection of persons and property is the paramount duty of Government, and shall be impartial and complete;"

And Whereas, The Sheriff of each county is, by law, charged with the preservation of life, property and peace, in each county;

Now, therefore, I, Rufus B. Bullock, Governor, and Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy of the State of Georgia, and of the militia thereof, do hereby issue this, my proclamation, charging and commanding the said Sheriffs, and each and every other civil officer in every county in this State, to see to it that the lives and property of all citizens, and the peace of the community, are preserved; and that all persons are protected in the free exercise of their civil and political rights and privileges. And, further, to make known that for failure in performance of duty, the said Sheriffs and other civil officers will be held to a strict accountability, under the law. And, to charge upon every person, resident in this State, that they render prompt and willing obedience to said Sheriffs and other civil officers, under all circumstances whatsoever; and that they demand from said officers, protection, when threatened or disturbed, in their person or property, or with denial of political or civil rights; and, that failing to receive such protection, they report facts to this department.

The following extract from General Orders No. 27, dated October 8, 1868, from Headquarters Department of the South, is published for the information of the civil officers and the general public, by which it will be seen that said civil officers will, in the performance of their duties, be sustained by the military power of the United States.

Given under my hand, and the Great Seal of the State, at the Capitol, in the city of Atlanta, this 9th day of October, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States the ninety-third. RUFUS B. BULLOCK.

By the Governor:
DAVID G. COTTING, Secretary of State.

"HEADQ'RS, DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH,
Atlanta, Ga., October 8, 1868.

General Orders No. 27.

"Whereas, by an act of Congress of the United States, approved March 2d, 1865, it is made the duty of the military authorities to preserve the peace at the polls at any election that may be held in any of the States; and whereas, this duty has become the more imperative, from the existing political excitement in the public mind, from the recent organization of civil government, and from the fact that Congress has, by a statute, prohibited the organization of military forces in the several States of this Department, it is therefore, ordered:

"That the several Districts commanders will, as soon as practicable, on the receipt of this order, distribute the troops under their commands as follows:

* * * * * * * * *

In the District of Georgia:
One company 16th Infantry, to Albany.
One company 16th Infantry, to Columbus.
One company 16th Infantry, to Macon.
One company 16th Infantry, to Augusta.
One company 16th Infantry, to Washington, (Wilkes county,)
One company 16th Infantry, to Americus.
One company 16th Infantry, to Thomasville.
One company (C,) 5th Cavalry, to Athens.
The company at Savannah to be reinforced, should occasion require by such number of the men at Fort Pulaski as can be spared from the post.

* * * * * * * * *

"Detachments, when necessary, may be made to points in the vicinity of each post; but in no case, nor on any pretext whatever, will detachments be sent without a commissioned officer, who will be fully instructed by his post commander.

"The troops will be considered as in the field and supplied with the necessary camp equipage; the men to be furnished with common tents if practicable, and, if not practicable, with shelter tents. Commanding officers are permitted to hire quarters, temporarily, when it can be done for reasonable rates; but this will not preclude the necessity of carrying tents, as the commands, in all cases, must be in readiness to move at the shortest notice, with all supplies required for their efficiency.

"District Commanders will instruct Post Commanders in their duties, and the relative position of the civil and military powers. They will impress on Post Commanders that they are to act in aid and co-operation, and in subordination to the civil authorities; that they are to exercise discretion and judgment, unbiased by political or other prejudices; that their objects should be exclusively to preserve the peace and uphold law and order, and they must be satisfied such is the object of the civil officer calling on them for aid; that they must in all cases where time will permit, apply for instruction to superior authority, but they must at all hazards preserve the peace, and not be restrained by technical points, when, in their conscientious judgment, under the rules above set forth, it is their duty to act. Post Commanders, on being notified of the proposed holding of political meeting, may send an officer, and if necessary a detachment, to watch the proceedings and see that the peace is preserved.

"To the people of the several States composing the Department, the Major General Commanding appeals that they will co-operate with him and the civil authorities in sustaining law and order, in preserving the peace and in avoiding those scenes of riot and bloodshed, and the wanton destruction of property and life, which has already, in some instances, been enacted in the Department. He urges abstinence from all inflammatory and incendiary appeals to the passions; discountenancing the keeping open of liquor shops on days of political meetings and of election; the abstaining from carrying arms, and asserting the individual right of construing laws by force of arms. No just cause is ever advanced by resort to violence. Let there be charity and forbearance among political opponents, whatever may be the result; let each good citizen determine that all who, under the law, have the right to the ballot shall exercise it undisturbed. If there are disputed points of law, let them be referred to the Courts, and let not mobs or political clubs, or other irresponsible bodies, construe and undertake to execute the law. This appeal is made in the earnest hope that the Major General Commanding can rely on the good sense and correct judgment of the mass of the people, and that he will not be compelled to resort to the exercise of the power with which he is intrusted, and which he will most reluctantly employ. But he thinks it his duty to make known, that so far as the power under his command will admit, he will not permit the peace to be broken, and that he will not be restrained in the conscientious discharge of his duty by technicalities of laws made when the present anomalous condition of affairs were neither anticipated or provided for."

By order of Major General Meade:

SAVANNAH REPUBLICAN,
Daily and Weekly,
By J. R. SNEED.

THE undersigned is pleased to announce to his friends and the public that he has again come in possession of this time-honored journal, and expects to devote his entire time to making it, as a newspaper, second to none in the South. The liberal patronage of the past and better years, while the REPUBLICAN was under his charge, encourages him to hope that by prompt and continued support the public will enable him to carry this purpose into effect.

To the MERCHANTS of the South, and especially of his own State, he looks with confidence for a general support, promising them, in return, the best news, commercial and political journal that his experience and capabilities can produce.

The Weekly Republican,

Designed more especially for the planting community, and others who have not the privilege of a daily mail, will be found to contain all the news of the week condensed into a small compass, and by the close of the year we expect to issue it on a large and imperial sheet of eight pages, to contain more reading matter than any paper in the South.

1868. DRY GOODS. 1868.
Fall and Winter Dry Goods.
JOHN M. GANNON,
(Corner WHITEHALL and HUNTER Streets,)
IS just in receipt of the following splendid line of Goods, which he has carefully selected, and will dispose of at prices that cannot fail to give satisfaction:
DRESS GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
A great variety of Cloaks and Shawls; a splendid line of Blankets and Flannels; a full stock of Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Embroideries, Breakfast Shawls, Nubias, Scarfs, Ladies' Under Vests, Gloves, Hoops and Balmoral skirts, Irish Linens, Birds' Eye Diapers, Table Linen, Scotch Diaper, Crash, Brood Cloths, Cassimeres, English Tweeds, Satinets, Kentucky and North Carolina Jeans, Prints, Sheetings, Shirtings, Demins, Stripes, Tickings, Osnaburgs, Linseys, Drills, Checks and everything kept in a first class Dry Goods store.
ONE PRICE ONLY.
It affords me pleasure to be able to state that this system has been a complete success and gives general satisfaction to my customers. For the benefit of those who have not been in the habit of doing business with me, I state that there is only one price for every article sold in my store, so that there is no danger of any person being overcharged for goods under any circumstances—in other words—a child can purchase goods in my store as cheap as the closest judge. I wish it distinctly understood that if any goods purchased in my establishment fail to come up to representation, they can be returned and the money will be refunded.
All consumers of dry goods are invited to call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

The Stranger on the Sill.

BY T. BUCHANAN READ.

Between the broad fields of wheat and corn,
In the lovely home where I was born,
The peach trees lean against the wall,
And the woodbines wander over all;
There is the shaded door-way still,
But the stranger's foot has crossed the sill.

There is the barn—and still as of yore
I can smell the hay from the open door,
And see the busy swallows throng,
And hear the pewee's mournful song;
But the stranger comes—ah! painful proof—
His sheaves are piled to the heated roof.

There is the orchard—the very trees,
Where my childhood knew long hours of ease,
And watched the shadowy moments run,
Till my life had imbibed more shade than sun.
That swing from the bough now sweeps the air,
But the stranger's children are swinging there.

There bubbles the shady spring below,
With its bottom brook where the hazels grow;
'Twas there I found the calamus root,
And watched the minnows poise and shoot,
And saw the robin lave his wings,
But the stranger's bucket is at the spring.

Oh! ye who daily cross the sill,
Step lightly, for I love it still,
And when you crowd the old barn eaves,
Then think what countless harvest sheaves
Have passed within the haunted door
To gladden eyes that are no more.

Deal kindly with those orchard trees,
And when your children crowd your knees,
Their sweetest fruit shall they impart,
As if old memories stirred their heart.
To youthful sports still leave the swing,
And in sweet reverence hold the spring.

The barn, the trees, the brook, the birds,
The meadows with their lowing herds,
The woodbine on the cottage wall—
My heart still lingers by them all;
Ye strangers on my native sill,
Step lightly, for I love it still.

Utilizing Waste Talents.

One of the greatest triumphs of modern chemistry is the utilizing of waste matters. Valuable substances, which in old imperfect processes of manufacture were lost, are now saved and used over again. In the brisk competion which exists between manufacturers, the question of profit and loss often turns on the extent to which the waste products, so-called, can be utilized. It seems to us that there is a lesson in this for American politicians to study—especially for those of the Republican faith, who look beyond the operation of temporary expedients to the permanence and well-being of their party. In the South there are, at this moment, a great quantity of waste talents. The war killed off but a small proportion of that brain power which for four years held the whole North at bay. The armies, the aggregation of human forces, which were wielded by it, are, the better part of them dead and buried; but, scattered all through the South, in obscure places, holding humble positions, and quite unheard of among the hosts, new names, whose political exploits fill the Southern newspapers, are a large majority of the men whose mental ability and decision and force of character we found it so hard to overmatch with all the combined Federal resources. To deny the possession of great talents to these men would be to do injustice to the capacities of Northern statesmen and Northern Generals. To admit them to the fullest is to reflect greater credit on the ability and courage which at last vanquished opponents so worthy of our steel. That is a pitiful, short-sighted policy which underrates an enemy before a battle or after a victory.

The question is, how can all these unemployed talents be turned to account for the good of the South? There is but one answer, that we know of, to this question; and that is to treat the South fairly, and give the loyal ex-rebels of ability a chance to come out and take their stand for the Union without unnecessary humiliation. The policy has been rather to repel them—to force them into the back-ground by the application of test oaths and all sorts of offensive means—than to invite their co-operation in the difficult task of restoring peace and prosperity to the county. If enough of other first-class ability could be found in the South, or were imported thither, to render the aid of these unemployed powers unnecessary, then there would be less reason to complain. But, unfortunately, other talent equal to the occasion does not develop itself abundantly. The "carpet-baggers" are a very commonplace lot; not much superior intellectually to the negroes; and, if any one desires to know what success the latter are likely to achieve in the future management of the Southern States, when Congress withdraws its patronizing hand, he has but to read the proceedings of the legislatures yet daily reported in the Southern journals. Unless more brains can be had for the conduct of Southern affairs than are now brought to bear upon them, the local government of the reconstructed States will be a farce and a stigma on the name of the republic. For these brains there is no other place to look at present than among the ranks of the old intellectual class of the South. Therefore, we repeat that it would be the part of wisdom, and not only that, but the dictates of true policy, considered simply as a party question, for the Republicans to encourage by friendly advances, instead of discouraging by odious legislation, the participation in the local affairs of all the available talent of the South, without reference to the past.—Journal of Commerce.

WAS IT A SWINDLE?—Our correspondent "One Who Knows" goes for the Paschall House Association with an attenuated piece of timber, or, as they say in the vulgate, a sharp stick. Some seventy thousand men, women and children invested each a five dollar bill in the tickets of the Association, having been promised that one of them should receive the Paschall House, valued, it was said, at $280,000; that another should have the private residence of Capt. Dan. Able, at Memphis, worth $60,000; and that four hundred and ninety-eight others should have prizes valued at from $18,000 down to $50 or less. But nobody drew any of these prizes—none of the larger ones, that is; and "One Who Knows," and many thousands of others wish to know "why this is thus." If the Association made up their minds at the start to draw all the valuable prizes themselves, why didn't they so nominate it in the bond, and not scatter the seeds of disappointment so lavishly among a confiding people? Nobody who held a ticket expected to draw anything of less value than a ten-thousand-dollar house and lot, but the public has yet to hear from the first man or woman who drew even a silver-plated spoon or a superannuated sewing-machine. Louisville held at least ten thousand tickets—perhaps twice or three times that number—and yet so far as is generally known, Louisville could sell all the prizes she drew for the sum of six and a fourth cents and make money by the transaction. These facts are "what's the matter" with our correspondent and thousands of others who can't see why the association should retain thirty thousand tickets, and among them all that drew the valuable prizes. It is found that there is something undergoing the process of decay in the kingdom of Denmark—that somebody has been picking up all the loose five dollar bills of the country without intending to return a quid pro quo.

We don't pretend to say that the drawing was a swindle. We are not sufficiently acquainted with swindles to know whether it was or not. But there are hundreds of people every where, including a large number of newspapers, who do not hesitate to put that sort of a point to it. This thing of paying five dollars for the privilege of grasping at a shadow and finding out in the end that even the shadow was not there, is what a certain style of people will call a swindle in spite of all you can do. It would seem that the ticket holders in this lottery paid their money for pretty much that sort of a privilege. Anyhow, if anything more substantial than mere shadows was drawn, the attempt to conceal the fact from the public has been eminently successful. Who can answer the question? "Why is this thus?"—Louisville Journal.

☞ Gen. R. J. Henderson, of Covington, had his right hand so severely lacerated by the saws of a gin recently, as to threaten to permanently disable it.

THE CONSTITUTION is intensely DEMOCRATIC and neither pains, enterprise, nor money will be spared, in the efforts of the Proprietors, to make it a leading organ, and one of the first papers in the South.

THE CONSTITUTION has scarcely laid aside its baptismal robes, and yet its circulation is equal to, if not greater, than any political paper in Georgia. This unparalleled success is mainly attributable to the industry and enterprise which have characterized its management.

As its record imports, it is battling for the Constitution and the liberties of the people; and the patronage it has received, assures the Proprietors that their labors are appreciated, and their policy endorsed.

As an advertising medium, THE CONSTITUTION is, perhaps, superior to any paper published in the State, its circulation being confined to no particular locality, but extending from one end of the State to the other, and from the Savannah to the Chattahoochee.

The Proprietors intend no relaxation of their energy, but will add new features as interest and circulation demands, so that, if possible, the good will and plaudits of their numerous readers,

Annuity Company,

Of New York,

Chartered by the Legislature of New York, 1862.

ROBT. L. CASE, President
THEO. R. WITMORE, Vice President,
ISAAC H. ALLEN, Secretary.

UNDER the judicious management of its able officers and directors, its growth in the public confidence is shown by its steady growth in business, to which we would call your attention, the increase being nearly as rapid as that of any other company in the United States, as follows:

Year	No of New Policies issued each year	Gross Rec'e	Am't Ins'd by new poli's	Total Gross Ass'ts	Increase over previous year in Gross Assets
1862	211	23 423	489,000	122 857	12 857

While not wishing to disparage any reliable Life Insurance Company, but rather bidding them all God speed in their noble work, the General Agent, in introducing this Company to the attention of the people of Georgia, feels warranted in saying that it stands second to none in its advantages, and adaptedness to the present financial condition of the South.

Energetic and reliable agents wanted in every part of the State, to whom liberal inducements will be offered.
